City Moves Forward on Plans for New Rec Center

This artist's rendering – prepared by Wilkie & Zanley, Architects – shows one possible design for the new recreation center's interior. Actual plans will not be finalized until the City reviews input from citizens who take part in one or more of the community meetings planned for the near future. (See our 2/25/05 issue for more info.)

Romulus residents may soon have a new recreation center, according to Mayor Alan R. Lambert.

Costs for the design and construction of the facility will be covered entirely by Tax Increment Finance Authority (TIFA) funds, and will require no increase in property taxes, he assured.

Last month, during his annual State of the City Address, Lambert explained that plans to purchase an existing 40,000-square-foot building, located on approximately five acres of land at Wayne and Northline roads, were contingent upon the City's ability to purchase an adjoining 11.5-acre parcel for further development. During the February 7 meeting of the Romulus City Council, he gave a brief update on the progress of those negotiations.

The following day, Tim Keyes, director of Community Development for the City of Romulus, told The Romulus News that Jones & Jones Leasing of Belleville has set a price of $1.15 million for the 11.5-acre parcel. That figure – added to the $1.9 million that was previously negotiated between the City and property representative Steve Yockum for the adjacent five acres and building – would bring the total purchase price to just over $3 million.

Keyes was expected to present the proposed purchase agreement to the Romulus TIFA Board on February 9. Although that meeting had not yet taken place when "the little paper" went to press, Keyes did not anticipate any trouble in attaining the board's approval.

If the property purchases are, indeed, approved, said Keyes, the next step in the process will be to identify the community's recreation needs. Tours of nearby recreation centers will be arranged for City Council and Recreation Commission members, and residents young and old will be encouraged to attend soon-to-be-scheduled community meetings to give their input.

"We want everyone to be involved in this process," Keyes explained. "We want this facility to have something to offer every age group every day."

Currently, said Lambert, facilities under consideration include a pool complex, skating rink, basketball courts, baseball fields with concession areas, and exercise/weight-training facilities.

Groundbreaking could occur by fall, and completion by spring 2006. □

Local Woman Thanks Holiday Benefactors

To the Editor:

I am the mother of a Romulus High School student and an infant daughter about five months of age. Last December, we all were the recipients of Christmas gifts from Romulus High School, and I am writing to express my heartfelt thanks to everyone who was involved in this generous deed.

Not long before the holiday season began, I spoke with Mr. Doug Hoffman, vice-principal of Romulus High School, regarding my son. During our meeting, I informed him that my son did not have a winter coat, hat, or gloves. He told me that he would inform the school social worker, Ms. Rhonda Henry, about the situation; perhaps she could give him a coat from the school's lost-and-found "archive" – which she did.

Thanks to this referral, I also had an opportunity to speak with Ms. Henry. During our meeting, she asked what other things I needed for my son and daughter. I told her some of the more pressing items. She then asked if I would mind if she referred me for a holiday box, which I thought would involve some food and a small gift or two. I thanked her and accepted her offer. ...

About a week before Christmas, Ms. Henry notified me that they would be delivering holiday items on Sunday, December 19. I still thought that she was referring to a small holiday box, as she did not allude to the actual situation.

A couple of days before the scheduled delivery date, I received a call from a Romulus High School instructor, Ms. Christie Pagel, to confirm the delivery time. She informed me that they had gotten most of the things that I had askedfor, and wanted to know if I needed anything else, as they had some "extra" money. Not understanding, I inquired as to the details of their efforts. She explained to me that members of the Class of 2007 had conducted a 50/50 raffle, the proceeds of which were used to purchase various items for me and my family. She also said that there were other donations, although she didn't name the sources.

Before the delivery, we spoke several more times, often while she was shopping. She called to make sure that my children would receive exactly what was needed and wanted. She also told me that the students assisted in the shopping, as well.

That Sunday, Ms. Pagel delivered the gift items personally. They included:

- (for my son) a new coat, a new hat/ scarf/gloves, two packages of new T-shirts/underwear/socks, five new colored T-shirts, a pair of new blue jeans, a new DVD player, a new portable CD player, a DVD, a CD, and a Pistons duffel bag;
- (for my daughter) a donated bed with sheets/blankets, two containers of diapers (totaling 200), two containers of wipes, about fifteen new outfits, new T-shirts/Onesies/socks, two donated activity play centers, a box of various stuffed animals/dolls, and various items of clothing donated by the family members of some of the students; and
- (for me) a $75 Meijer gift card.

Truly, this was a blessing beyond my wildest expectations! The year 2004 was one of the worst years of my life on all levels – mentally, physically, and financially. My family and I struggled to make ends meet and remain independent in our current home. As a result, I have relied on my faith, family, and friends to make it until I get back on my feet. But, when complete strangers become a part of the equation, it truly restores my hope of better days and my faith in humanity in general.

Just to give you an idea of just how much these items were needed: when they were delivered, my daughter was down to her last wipe and just two diapers — and, of course, I had no money. Needless to say, to be given 200 diapers made me breathe a sigh of relief that I was able to hang on just a little while longer, and be grateful that a higher source has looked out for me and my plight via these wonderful students and staff persons.

For this, I believe that they should be commended and honored for the wonderful people that they are, in hopes that this spirit of goodwill will continue not only during the holiday season, but throughout the coming year.

News from the Romulus Historical Society

To the Editor:

At its January meeting, the Romulus Historical Society elected officers for 2005:

- · president: Gerald Wendland
- · vice-president: Cathy Morse
- treasurer: Gloria Chandler
- recording secretary: Genevieve Dugan
- corresponding secretary: Kenneth Krueger

These people are primarily responsible for the planning and overseeing of historical projects in the community.

One of these projects involved moving a century-old freight house, once used by the Wabash Railroad, to Romulus Historical Park. Block Grant funds were used both for the move and for restoration. A July dedication is being planned to coincide with the Society's annual Party in the Park.

Another activity that the Society hopes will become an annual affair is our flea market. Over a dozen vendors came out for last year's event, which offered items from trash to treasure. The Society will use the money raised by the flea market to further historical projects in Romulus. Plan on attending this year's event on Saturday, June 25.

One significant project that didn't directly involve the Society was the cleaning and restoration of the monument to our brave boys who served in World War I. This monument was presented to Romulus sometime after the war by the Sunshine Club, a fraternal organization that sent cards and visited shut-ins in town. If you have any information about this organization, the Society would like to hear about it.

One story that the Society is sorry to report is the planned demolition of the first airport terminal, located at the corner of Goddard and Middlebelt. The Airport Authority made its decision after it was decided that it would be too costly to restore the building. The land is scheduled to be used by a car rental company that operates nearby.

Restoration of the Peter C. Bird house is progressing slowly, but we are continued on page 3

Blizman Appointed to PSU Faculty

Congratulations to Romulus High School alumna Tracy Blizman, who has been appointed to the faculty at Pittsburg (Kansas) State University as a French horn instructor. The Class of 1995 grad was a top performer in the Romulus Community Schools' instrumental music program.

Blizman's curriculum vitae includes a bachelor's degree in music performance from Western Michigan University and a master's degree in music from the University of Missouri (Kansas City), where she is currently working toward an artist's diploma. She has served as the private French horn teacher for UMKC's Academy of Music and Dance Conservatory for non-horn major students since 2001.

Usztics Is Educator of the Year

Charles Usztics, who teaches culinary arts at Romulus High School, has been named 2005's Teacher of the Year by the Foodservice Educators Network International.

Congratulations to Charles Usztics, culinary arts teacher at Romulus High School, who has been named the 2005 Educator of the Year by Foodservice Educators Network International.

Usztics will be honored at the organization's national conference, to be held February 25 at the Astor Crowne Plaza in New Orleans, Louisiana. Besides a $1,000 recognition award, he will receive a $500 travel allowance and a complimentary conference registration.

"Charles Usztics, who is a longtime Romulus resident, earned this distinguished honor by developing an exemplary culinary arts program at Romulus High School," said Romulus Community Schools spokesperson Dick Kruse. "He and his assistant, Angelica Richardson, have their students serve daily lunches in the school's Eagle's Nest restaurant, and prepare a variety of breakfasts, dinners, and banquets for festive school occasions such as the Principal's Honor Roll program, athletic awards programs, the annual Co-op/ Business Breakfast, and the Mayor's Drug Task Force awards presentations."

Usztics was also recognized for his excellent ice-carving program in FENI's quarterly magazine last year. His students have been consistent award-winners at both the prestigious Plymouth Winter Carnival and the Henry Ford Community Arts competition. Students additionally display their ice-carvings for RHS programs and at the City's various municipal buildings.

Usztics was nominated for the FENI award by RHS life skills teacher Phyllis Wilkerson. Her nomination included information about his contributions to foodservice education and the effectiveness of his program. It also noted that Usztics has often acted as an advocate for his students, helping them gain admission to top national culinary arts programs. Many of his students have gone on to attain head chef positions at area hotels and restaurants.

Proponents of Funding Changes Hope for Legislative Support

All over our state, education costs are rising – but education funding is not. The resulting struggle to provide effective programs with shrinking resources is leading many school districts and concerned citizens to work together to initiate changes in the basic structure of education finance in Michigan.

"The revenues from income and sales taxes just have not been able to keep up with the rising costs of utilities, health care, and pensions for school districts," explained Joel R. Carr, superintendent of the Romulus Community Schools. "Change is absolutely essential if we are to continue to provide our children with quality programs."

Because of this perceived need for change, the Romulus school district has joined the Tri-County Alliance, a group of 87 school districts from Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties. The Alliance has set forth a proposal to have the state's per-pupil allocation to local school districts increased by 5% or the rate of inflation (whichever is less) each year.

According to Carr, the proposal is necessary because Michigan school districts are currently in the third consecutive year of a $6,700 state foundation allowance that has actually been reduced by prorations over the past two years.

"The Tri-County Alliance hopes to have this proposal brought up for a vote in both the state senate and the state

Tight Budget Leads School Board To Offer Employee Severance Program

In an effort to preserve quality programs in the face of continued constraints in education funding, the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education approved an employee severance program at its January 31 meeting. This program, said superintendent Joel R. Carr, should enable the district to maintain a majority of its educational programs and services for the 2005–2006 school year.

"Our fund equity has decreased from $8 million to $2.5 million over the past two years, and we expect to use a significant portion of the $2.5 million this year," Carr explained. "Our choice was between cutting significant programs and services, laying off a large number of younger teachers and absorbing major unemployment costs, or offering severance, keeping our younger staff members, and maintaining most of our current outstanding programs and services.

"The Board of Education chose to offer the severance program so that we could continue to provide the best possible education for the children of Romulus," he continued. "The program will offer the district an opportunity to save over $1.5 million because there is a $49,000 difference in total cost between teachers at the bachelor's 'step one' level and the master's maximum level."

According to Carr, education funding from the State of Michigan has not kept pace with rising costs.

"We have had three consecutive years without an increase in the State of Michigan per-pupil foundation grant," he stated. "For this reason, we have taken a proactive position with the Tri-County Alliance to make a change in how Michigan schools are financed." (See adjacent article.)

"The Board of Education and I certainly appreciate the many years of dedicated service that our senior staff members have provided to the Romulus Community Schools and the children of Romulus. I hope that the community will understand the choice we had to make, and the difficult financial situation that caused this to occur," he concluded.

house," Carr said. "If the proposal is either not brought up for a vote, or is defeated by the legislature, the Alliance will seek signatures on a statewide petition to place the issue on the ballot for the November 2006 election.

"The Alliance intends to pursue this issue aggressively," he continued. "We will keep tabs on the voting records and statements of the Metro area's state legislators, and then issue them grades in the media."

Two state legislators who should receive top marks from the Alliance are Senator Raymond E. Basham and Representative Hoon-Yung Hopgood.

"We are very fortunate to have both Representative Hopgood and Senator Basham strongly on our side and in support of adequate funding for education in Michigan," said Carr. "But, we also know that this is not always the case throughout the metropolitan and out-state house and senate districts."

Carr noted that he is particularly pleased with local citizens' support of the change initiative.

"Romulus parents have shown excellent grassroots support for adequate educational funding," said the superintendent. "Many attended both the initial Tri-County Alliance meeting at Dearborn Edsel Ford High School in December and at Romulus High School in January.

"They are ready to take citizen action during the upcoming legislative process," he added.

Carr said that reports from a January 13 State Revenue Estimating Conference support the Alliance's fears of future funding shortfalls.

"The reports indicated that school districts could receive anywhere from $34 to $200 in per-pupil increases for next year. They also noted that, in order for the full $200 increase to occur, the legislature would once again have to vote to subsidize the School Aid Fund with $272 million from the General Fund," Carr explained. "Chances for this to happen are probably not very good, because the General Fund is projected to be about $1 billion in debt for the next year."

Yet, even if the per-pupil increase is near the maximum amount projected by the State Revenue Estimating Conference report, the Romulus school district will still face budget constraints.

"Our cost increases just for health care and pensions for next year would be over $150 per student," explained Carr. "We just cannot make out under the current annual budget allocation process in Michigan.

"We will definitely need structural change to avoid future statewide cuts in education programs and services," he concluded.

Citizens interested in learning more about becoming involved in the Alliance's effort to change education funding are encouraged to call Dick Kruse, Romulus Community Schools spokesperson, at 734-532-1626.

Schools Feature Impressive "Learning To Give" Programs

For quite some time, the Romulus school district has set a shining example by participating in numerous programs to help people in need. In fact, Romulus High School was recognized as a National Service Learning Awardwinner several years ago, when many area districts offered few, if any, service-learning programs.

Currently, Romulus schools are participating in a program called "Learning To Give." Tom Dolan, the district's curriculum director, is a member of the state's Learning To Give Steering Committee, and is also involved with the Connect Michigan Alliance, Governor Jennifer Granholm's organization that encourages community-service programs.

Dolan recently reported that, in the Romulus Community Schools, each teacher is required to include two lessons on "learning to give," or "service-learning," in his/her classroom curriculum over the course of the school year.

"Our students learn a lot about other people and their situations in life when they work on service-learning projects, and they also learn that helping others can make them feel really good about themselves," Dolan explained. "We are proud of our Learning To Give classroom units and all the benefits they have brought to the common good."

Dolan went on to give examples of how Romulus youngsters are making a difference in their community. Students at Merriman Elementary School, for instance, have "adopted" the Helping Hand, a Romulus agency dedicated to assisting local residents in need. Among the school's Learning To Give projects were a school-wide hats-and-gloves drive, a "Coins for Kids" drive that raised $612, and a "Health and Hygiene" donation program that netted over 500 items such as toothbrushes, toothpaste, and mouthwash. All proceeds from these events were donated to the Helping Hand.

Dolan also pointed with pride to a number of programs at Wick Elementary School. There, he explained, students conducted a school-wide Hurricane Relief effort that raised over $1,400, as well as a "Bracelets for C.S. Mott Children's Hospital" program that raised over $800.

Wick principal Debbie Juriga and several of her students recently gave a presentation about their service-learning projects to the members of the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education. Juriga had students from each of her classes explain what they had learned from their various community-service projects. A standing-room-only crowd of family members and other well-wishers were on hand to see the students' presentations.

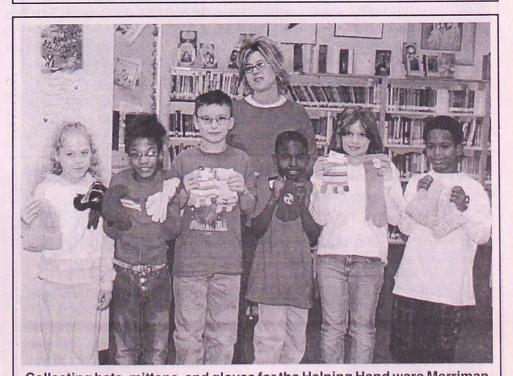

"It was really great to see so much support for our students," Juriga said. •

Canine Couple To Exchange Bow-wow Vows for a Doggone Good Cause

Sophie and Gizmo are inviting the entire community to attend their wedding ceremony to benefit the Friends of the New Romulus Animal Shelter Fund. It's sure to be a howling good time!

Thanks to Linda Norman, programs coordinator for the Romulus Senior Center, a local case of puppy love is about to culminate in doggy I-do's - and it's all for a doggone good cause.

Norman's Yorkshire terriers, Gizmo and Sophie, will trot down the aisle at the Senior Center "chapel" on Saturday, February 19, to raise money toward the construction of a new Romulus Animal Shelter for all their furry friends.

Romulus Mayor Alan R. Lambert has graciously agreed to officiate at the ceremony, which will begin at 1 p.m.

Councilman Bill Wadsworth - who, for many years, has spearheaded the crusade for a new animal shelter - will serve as Gizmo's best man, while "Max" (with Sharon Gurner) will serve as an additional groomsman.

Attending Sophie (led by Madison Kusibab) will be her maid of honor, "Ginger" (with Brooke Hilyer), and bridesmaid "Meggan" (with Mary Ann Ryznar).

Brianna Banko will serve as the ring-bearer.

According to "wedding planner" Cheryl Blanton, the bridal fashions will be courtesy of Lynn Conway, while Berthenia Valentine will provide the vows for the ceremony. Light refreshments, donated by Sister Act Catering, will be served by Alice Gilbert, Melissa Kusibab, and Nikki Place. Entertainment will be courtesy of Sylvia Dubisky and "The Wanna Bees" (Theresa Bizek, Cheryl Blanton, Jo Ann Demick, Theresa Golembiewski, Hester Mostoller, and Mary Ann Ryznar).

Four-legged friends are also welcome, as long as they are well-behaved.

In lieu of wedding gifts, the canine couple is asking that guests bring a donation for the Animal Shelter Fund.

For more information, or to RSVP (no later than February 12), please call 734-955-4120.

Editor's note: Can't attend this crazy canine connection? No need to worry your bone; you can still make a donation to the Animal Shelter Fund. Just use the form below.

(For more information about events at Romulus Senior Center, located at 36515 Bibbins, call 734-955-4120.)

Due to construction work on the City's new senior center, parking is at a premium right now, according to Linda Norman. The senior programs coordinator urges visitors to call ahead to check on parking availability, or to park at City Hall and call from there to arrange for a pickup.

Free Tax Preparation

From 12:30 to 3 p.m. each Wednesday between February 2 and April 13, the Romulus Senior Center will be offering free tax preparation services (by appointment only) to low-income Romulus seniors (age 60 and older). The service will also be available at Romulus Tower and Whispering Willows.

A list of materials which must be brought to the appointment will be provided at the time of registration. These materials will include:

- W-2 forms,
- Unemployment compensation statements,
- SSA-1099 interest/dividends statements,
- 1099R pension/annuity statements,
- forms showing income taxes paid,
- last year's tax forms.

For more information, or to make an appointment for tax service, call or stop in at the Center.

The Center strongly urges anyone considering a change in his/her exercise program to consult a doctor beforehand.

TeleCare Program Available

The Romulus Senior Center's Tele-Care program provides seniors with daily phone reassurance at no cost. To learn more, call the Center's friendly staff.

Brooker R. Edwards

The Romulus community lost a good friend and dedicated public servant when Brooker Reventa Edwards, 79, passed away on Thursday, January 27, 2005.

Brooker – born in Ackerman, Mississippi, on Wednesday, May 27, 1925 – was the third child of Bill and Signora Edwards. After serving in the United States Army from 1944 to 1946, he returned home and attended Ackerman High School, graduating in 1949. Later that year, he entered Mississippi's Alcorn University, where he studied agriculture until 1951.

In 1963, Brooker, his wife, and their two sons moved to Michigan, and Brooker went to work for the Ford Motor Company (from which he eventually retired in 1988). A man of numerous talents, Brooker also opened a barbershop in the breezeway of his home, giving haircuts and good advice to generations of local residents, and further used his skills as a self-taught builder and carpenter to work on many area homes, including the one he built for himself in 1976.

Despite these multiple occupations, Brooker still found time to devote to his community. From May 25, 1970, to November 12, 1973, he served as one of the seven original councilmen of the newly incorporated City of Romulus. He was appointed to the City's Police, Fire and Safety Commission on February 13, 1974, and served on the Board of Zoning Appeals from May 29, 1990, until his death. As a founding father of the city, his name is engraved on a cornerstone of Romulus City Hall, which was erected in 1972.

Brooker attended Parks Memorial Methodist Church (Romulus) for about 55 years. He was also a member of the Masons (St. John Lodge #44, Michigan) since 1955.

Surviving Brooker are his wife, Willie Cornelius (Reupert) Edwards, to whom he was devoted for more than 62 years; 2 sons, Jerry and Harold (Emma) Edwards; 9 grandchildren, Vonda (Steve) Cooley (who was raised as his daughter), Lisa Edwards, Angel Edwards, Harold Edwards, Jr., Marvin Edwards, Laketia Shelton, Jeron Edwards, Aaron Bonds, and Africa Edwards; and 16 great-grandchildren, Terra, Derris, Derrian, Anthony, Xavier, Whitney, Britany, Delonte, Brandon, Jasmine, Bria, Derrick, Starnisha, LaSadie, Aaron, and Kiara Edwards.

He is also survived by 2 brothers, Barron (Ida Ruth) Edwards (Detroit, MI) and Charles (Deveron) Armstrong (Romulus); a sister, Helen (Bill) Brown (Schertz, TX); 3 sisters-in-law, Rollie Reupert (Detroit), Dicey Seaberry (Romulus), and Sarah Rice (Chicago, IL); a brother-in-law, James (Barbara) Reupert; and 2 aunts, Ecerell (Ackerman, MS) and Eva (Gulf Port, MS).

Among those who predeceased him were his parents; 3 brothers, Anthony "Skeet" Armstrong, Bridges Edwards, and Bill Edwards, Jr.; and 2 grandchildren, Mark Anthony and Tamika White.

A funeral service was held on Thursday, February 3, at First Baptist Church (Romulus), with Reverend William D. Phillips officiating. Interment was at Romulus Memorial Cemetery.
